

Bachelor in

Globalization, Governance and Law (B.A.)

Your Profile

To you, law is more than just a complex set of rules that everyone exploits for their own advantage. To you, law is an expression of the pursuit of justice. It is no longer just a part of a national culture, but a way to bring our international relations to a new level where no longer only the rights of the strongest matter. You believe globalization can bring us closer together in both goods and knowledge, though it becomes increasingly difficult to regulate global responsibilities. The issues of social justice, universal human rights and the institutions that protect them are extremely important to you.

Key Information

In this study program, you will learn the importance of international institutions and how they are the cornerstones of fair prosperity, long term peace and sustainable civilization processes.

You will be able to contribute to the rules of the world and see how meaningful work can be put into action.

The degree program has an international orientation. As all our bachelor programs, English is the language of instruction and learning one of the six foreign languages, such as Chinese or Spanish, is mandatory. In a semester abroad, students can specialize their skills at one of our partner universities.
