BACHELOR IN MANAGEMENT (B.A.)

Who You Are

Management in the world of culture and entertainment aims to touch humans in their vibrant hearts. You want to understand why people visit Wacken festival and why the MoMa is famous. You believe management is more than looking at numbers and having a profit-only mentality: It is a matter of creative thinking and critical reflection, and generating a strategic and purposeful vision. To successfully create cultural events in museums or theme parks, management needs to be thought of as an interplay of many sciences and its marketing. What makes the difference is the 'Art of Management'.

Key Information

The curriculum combines a well-rounded education in management that teaches both the scientific and practical skills to use in the functional areas of organizations in the cultural as well as in an international environment.

The program focuses highly on intercultural skills, soft skills, and language skills that will train you in creative problem-solving and out-of-the-box thinking.

Also, to spotlight your interests and skills, you will be able to choose 2 out of 4 different specializations that will help you build a strong and practical skillset in the field you are passionate about (see below).
