Our Profile

The students at the award-winning Karlshochschule are passionate about making a change in management and society. With alternative approaches to thinking, and teaching in the fields of economics, politics, and psychology, the state-recognized private university brings together students from over 60 countries that want to actively shape a better world. The English-only programs stand out through their interactive teaching, small learning groups, and individual support. Karls is an intercultural hub that promotes a critical perspective with transformative goals.
